With 20 years of experience in intellectual property law and a foundation in molecular genetics, I provide clients with innovative and effective legal strategies to protect and grow their businesses. I hold certifications as a Certified Information Privacy Professional (CIPP) and a Certified AI Governance Professional (AIGP), demonstrating my ability to advise on cutting-edge issues in data privacy, artificial intelligence, and technology compliance.

My practice spans the full spectrum of intellectual property, from creating strategies to identify, monetize, and safeguard assets, to navigating the complexities of licensing, trademarks, copyrights, and patents. Whether negotiating a high-stakes contract, defending against infringement claims, or counseling on emerging technologies, I focus on delivering cost-efficient, practical solutions tailored to my clients' unique goals.

In today's digital age, data privacy and technology governance are critical to success. I work closely with businesses to navigate privacy regulations, prepare for data breach events, and develop policies for websites, apps, and AI systems that ensure compliance while mitigating risk. I also help clients harness the value of their intellectual property, including during mergers and acquisitions, to strengthen competitive advantages and drive growth.

I am passionate about empowering clients to succeed in dynamic markets. Whether advising start-ups, Fortune 500 companies, or innovative entrepreneurs, I combine technical knowledge, legal acumen, and a business-focused approach to deliver results that matter.
