Family law is personal—it touches lives and hearts in ways the law often doesn't. With over 40 years of experience, I work to ensure my clients feel heard, respected, and supported through some of life's most challenging transitions.

I focus on building trusted relationships with my clients, actively listening to understand their unique goals and priorities. Whether navigating complex negotiations or advocating in court, I am committed to ensuring their voice is at the center of the process.

I rely on Alternative Dispute Resolution (ADR) in most cases, as it often provides clients with a less adversarial and more efficient path to resolution. Mediation is a key focus of my practice, particularly in divorce matters, allowing families to shape their futures collaboratively. I also bring extensive experience in child custody and parenting time issues, helping families find workable solutions that prioritize their needs.

It's deeply rewarding to make a meaningful difference in my clients' lives. As The Beatles famously said in The End, 'And in the end, the love you take is equal to the love you make.' This simple yet powerful principle guides my approach to helping clients navigate their most challenging moments.
